“Oil Free. Disrupted” Has Arrived

Pneumatic Engineering has officially launched the ELGi AB Series Oil Free Screw Air Compressors in Western Australia.

ELGi’s AB Series compressors deliver 100% oil free air, in compliance with the stringent norms of ISO 8573 -1 Class 0 and ISO 8573—7. The result is high quality air, free of microbiological contaminants at reduced lifecycle costs when compared with prevailing technology.

This makes it ideal for industries where air quality is critical ranging from oil and gas, mining, food and beverages, textiles, pharmaceuticals, electronics, metals and power industries, in which stringent compliance norms mandate contaminant free air.

With increasing pollution concerns and stringent environmental regulation, air quality and specifically oil free air has become a necessity. Historically companies have suffered the constraints of high cost, poor reliability, and low efficiency in order to have oil free air. ELGi AB Series Oil Free Compressor is a perfect solution.

Pneumatic Engineering General Manager Chris Newbound said he thinks the product range is going to change the way people view the cost associated to oil free compressed air.

“With WA being a mining, oil and gas hub, we think this product is going to do particularly well in these industries, among others, to meet the tightening environmental policies, procedures and requirements,” said Mr Newbound.

“The product range also allows for those who do not have a requirement for oil free to simply do better in the current world which demands businesses lower their carbon footprint and adhere to not just national but international compliance norms.”

“With a low carbon footprint and the low cost of ownership, both in affordability to purchase and maintenance, it makes the decision a lot easier.”

“We also have a massive five-year UPTIME Assurance for critical compressor parts and a huge amount of innovative product features that make this product so unique.”
